REPORT ON TECHNICAL TALK CONDUCTED ON 5/6/21

The Civil Engineering department of LMCST organized a technical talk on the topic “Air pollution due to industrial activities on 5th June 2021 at 4 pm.

The poster features a background image of industrial smokestacks emitting smoke. At the top left is the Lourdes Matha College of Science & Technology logo, which includes a globe and the text 'LOURDES MATHA COLLEGE OF SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY Bureau Veritas Certified ISO 9001-2015 Institution Managed by Archdiocese of Changanacherry'. The main text is centered and reads: 'THE CIVIL ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT OF LOURDES MATHA COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY in association with FECTA (Students club of the civil engineering department) organize a technical talk on'. Below this is a dark blue horizontal bar with the text 'AIR POLLUTION DUE TO INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES' in white. Underneath, the word 'SPEAKER' is written in large, bold, dark blue letters. To the left of the speaker's name is a black-bordered box containing the speaker's details. To the right, the staff and student coordinators' names and contact numbers are listed. At the bottom, a dark blue bar contains the date, time, and mode of the event in white text.

Key takeaways from the session:

- The seminar aimed at creating awareness and triggering a dialogue among scientists, academicians, researchers, activists, as well as lay people on the emerging challenges related to water resources, water quality and water conservation.
- The seminar included discussions under five different themes related to water issues that included water scarcity, water conservation, commercialization of water, water as an new area for conflicts and water management.
- However, in the presentation, it was argued that the meaning of literacy had changed in modern times and was not associated with awareness about issues and acting on them, but only with education. This was evident in the way in which the water resources were being handled in the state and how there was a very little role that literacy had in changing the poor condition of water resources in the country through activities for conservation of water.
- For example, in spite of the rich tradition India had in the past, many were totally oblivious of the water wisdom that we had in olden times and the technologies that our ancestors used to preserve and conserve water. No attempts were also being made to learn from the past and value water in the same way as our ancestors.

- The seminar ended with the valedictory function that highlighted the need to understand our real relationship with water and thus use water by treating it as a valuable resource that was not to be wasted, but used wisely based on principles of equity and with the understanding that access to water was a basic human right. We need to look at sustainability in a bigger way. Bringing back the sustainability into the main frame of innovation, creativity and rest of it.

The session was followed by a short understanding on constructions management which was handled by Prof. Kavita Nair, XIME Bangalore.

DATA ANALYSIS

Participants Analysis

The number of participants who participated in the webinar is 125. The number of participants was restricted to 50 initially as per the request of the speaker. But as we had a whopping number of registrations, we requested the resources persons to allow minimum hundred participants and he agreed for the same. Even though this was exclusively for faculties, we had few students and research scholars who attended it. Our participants were from across the country and borders. Further classification done on faculties revealed that, we had a wide range of participants from assistant professors to principals of institutions. The detailed analysis of the participants is given below.

Feedback form analysis

The feedback received from the participants has been analysed in this section. Three questions regarding the webinar was asked to the participants. The participants were asked to rate the quality of the webinar, the value addition of the delivered content and also the resource person. 100 participants commented that, the quality of the webinar was excellent. With regard to the value addition of the content; 93 participants opined that value addition from Dr. Nanjan Balu's session was extensive and according to 86 participants Dr.V. Sureshkumar's session added extensive value to them. According to 103 participants, Dr. Nanjan Balu was excellent. And out of the 125 participants, 98 of them opined that Dr. V. Sureshkumar was excellent. The participants were appreciative about the Webinar, especially about the speakers and the way it was organised. Detailed Analysis of the feedback response is given below.

Key takeaways from the session:

- Globally lot of corporations have remote works which increase productivity. Now companies are little bit open also employees are given freedom to work in their own space. Today the most important thing is the skills that you contribute to the company. Newer companies are adapting to the needs of post COVID era. Overly there is no change in the decision making style taken by companies both in India and Abroad.
- Youngsters should be prepared for everything. People should be very flexible and multi-skilled. Youngsters should be microns, they should be ready to start of their own. Apollo is one of the best, also Google is one of the company which brings innovations and changes
- Employees have now come out as leaders, come out with new ideas and innovations to contribute. That's what everyone should really emulate.

- It's a time where you should be looking at how you can add Values beyond what you have been asked to do. Lot of non- profit organizations, social development organizations and corporate are responded to pandemic and trying to rephrase their strategies.
- We need to look at sustainability in a bigger way. Bringing back the sustainability into the main frame of innovation, creativity and rest of it

About the session:

This technical talk was organized by FECTA (students association of CE Dept.). The session had participation from students of all batches of CE and faculty members of CE dept. Around 45 participants attended the session.

- The technical talk session aimed at creating awareness and triggering an interest among academicians, as well as students, on the use of Concrete as a construction material.
- The resource person started the session explaining about the history of concrete and its significance.
- The resource person explained in detail about the ingredients of concrete, their role and properties and mixing of concrete .
- The speaker mentioned the admixtures and other materials used for special concrete mixes.
- He further explained in detail with photos and videos about the common mistakes made in worksites and how it can be rectified.
- The session ended with a discussion part wherein the speaker cleared the doubts of participants.

Key Takeaways from the Session:

- Ikigai is a Japanese concept that means “a reason for being”.
- The word refers to having a direction or purpose in life, that which makes one’s life worthwhile, and towards which an individual takes spontaneous and willing actions giving them satisfactions and sense of meaning to life.
- The Japanese idiom ‘Junin Toiro (ten people, ten colors)’ suggests that – as people have uniquely individual characters – each person’s sense of Ikigai is uniquely different because we can all find joy in different aspect of life.
- To find Ikigai, one need not writhe in agony like ascetic trainee monks do because Ikigai is supposed to keep us calm and happy.
- Even if one is unable to fully awaken one’s Ikigai during a lifetime, it does not matter because one can find happiness as a result of accumulating it.
- Finding Ikigai is believed to be one of the most important elements to living a happier life for Japanese centenarians who have managed to live in a rapidly changing and stressful modern-day society.

Screenshots from the Webinar

About FDP

Covid-19 pandemic has impacted and changed the education system and learning process severely. This pandemic has resulted in the shut of educational institutions across the globe and led to e-learning, whereby teachers teach virtually on digital platforms. Lack of interaction with the teacher and student is a major restraint of e-learning. To make online learning more fun, interactive and effective game elements can be added in learning.

The broad objective of the FDP is empowering the faculty of LMIMS and LMCST to the new horizon of gamified and interactive online teaching. This interactive virtual workshop creates awareness regarding the relevance of gamification in adult learning, and familiarizes the faculty with various tools, techniques and online portals supports academic gamification. The session starts by introducing the major challenges faced by the students and teachers in online classes. The importance of engaging students and the relevance of adding games to make classes more interactive and effective is discussed in this FDP.

Two online tools for gamified and interactive teaching, crossword (www.crosswordlab.com) and online brain games and puzzles (www.gymnastics.com) were trained in the session. To make the session more active and to gain hands on experience, two break room peer to peer discussion opportunity were provided to the participants.

Analysis of participants feedback

Feedback from the participants is gathered at the end of the session. The participants were asked to rate the quality of the webinar, the value addition of the delivered content and also the resource person. To get an understanding about the feedback from the participants, the data so gathered is analyzed with percentage method. The analysis reveals that majority of the participants (85.2%) were of the opinion that the quality of the FDP is excellent. The FDP had added value to majority (85.2%) of the respondents. 88.90 % of the participants responds that the resource person is excellent. The participants demand to conduct more sessions on gamification and interactive online teaching to explain the remaining techniques.
